

2026 PAME Registration Guide

These instructions are meant for those registering for both the 2026 AES Annual Meeting and the PAME conference or registering for PAME only with a promo code. PAME registration is completed through the AES registration system; this allows PAME attendees to take advantage of AES hotel blocks and rates.

Step 1:

- When you click on the registration link, you will first be prompted to log into the AES ecosystem. If you do not have an AES account, you will need to create one to purchase a registration. There is no cost to make an AES account.
 - Note: If you do not have an AES membership, after signing in, you will be asked if you would like to purchase one before you continue registration. If you do not wish to purchase a membership, select 'Continue'.

Step 2:

- Enter your information on the "Tell us About Yourself Page"
- If you have a PAME promo code, enter it in the Promotional Code box on the bottom of the page, click 'Apply Code' and click to the next page

Promotional Code:

If you received a special registration code, please enter it below and click 'Apply Code'. (Any applicable discounts will be applied after you select your registration type.)
